Boston Scientific

Boston Scientific Celebrates Grand Opening of Maple Grove, MN Research & Development Center

(October 3, 2005) -- Boston Scientific Corporation (NYSE: BSX) announced today the grand opening of its new Maple Grove, Minnesota Research and Development facility, which includes several research and development labs, the core Cardiovascular new Technology and Product Development organization and other supporting functions. Minnesota Lt. Governor Carol Molnau joined Boston Scientific employees for the ribbon cutting ceremony and open house.

“We are proud that Minnesota is home to Boston Scientific and other companies who are at the forefront of their industries and are significant drivers of economic growth,

---

https://news.bostonscientific.com/grand-opening-maple-grove-mn-center