

About Our Global Headquarters Marlborough MA

Boston Scientific Corporation recently established its new global headquarters in Marlborough, MA, on a state-of-the-art campus designed to drive global connectivity, collaboration and technology development. Our new headquarters is more than a building; it's a milestone in our growth strategy as we continue advancing science for life.

The Marlborough location has been home to Boston Scientific's Endoscopy and Urology & Women's Health businesses since 2004. Fulfilling President and CEO Mike Mahoney's vision to attract top talent and exemplify the company's culture of a "winning spirit," extensive renovations and expansions were put in place, and the site opened as the company's new global headquarters in June 2014, housing all Corporate functions, such as Human Resources, Quality, Regulatory, Compliance, Corporate Affairs & Communications, Operations, Finance and Legal.
